

4

GLOBAL REPORT

Headlines from the last seven days

- United Kingdom 8
- Science & Environment 9
- The big story*
- Middle East Conflict poses dilemmas for Gulf states10

15

SPOTLIGHT

In-depth reporting and analysis

- France
Will Parisians be won over by the Olympic Games? 15
- Ukraine
How $61bn US aid package could change the war18
- UK
Can Britain learn to love the 'nanny state'? 19
- New Zealand
The welcome return of Wellington's dawn chorus... 24
- Environment
Fossils as a tool to help predict extinctions 30
- United States
Melania Trump is back - but not playing by wife rules32

34

FEATURES

Long reads, interviews & essays

- Criminal justice bill protesters, 30 years on
- Dorian Lynskey* 34
- The corporation cashing in on America's drought
- Maanvi Singh* 40

45

OPINION

- Larry Elliott
Globalisation has gone into reverse 45
- Abigail Disney
Why rich people like me are begging to pay more tax47
- Martha Gill
Mental health is a useful barometer for society 48

“
Where once art was dedicated to the glory of God, now it is laid on the altar of mental wellbeing”

51

CULTURE

- TV, film, music, theatre, art, architecture & more*
- Music
Why Fontaines DC have their eyes on the better land 51
- Visual arts
The creative refuge of radical expressionists 54
- Screen
Reel deal: film clubs drive a celluloid revival 56
- Books
Salman Rushdie's story of hatred defeated by love57

60

LIFESTYLE

- Tim Dowling
Dog behaving demonically.. 60
- Ask Ottolenghi
Criteria for a new knife61
- Recipe
Walnut and bread pasta..... 61

Join the community

Twitter: @guardianweekly
facebook.com/guardianweekly
Instagram: @guardian

SPOT ILLUSTRATIONS:
MATT BLEASE

On the cover The tit-for-tat direct attacks between Israel and Iran did not escalate further as first feared, but they signalled a profound change in the rules of engagement between the two foes, as Brian Stauffer's cover art conveys. "Lately we've become dulled to the shattering of long-held norms, but this looks a lot like a break that could be hard to put back together," he says.
Illustration: Brian Stauffer