

4

GLOBAL REPORT

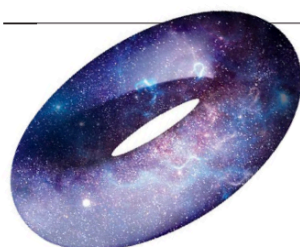

Headlines from
the last seven days

United Kingdom 8

Science & Environment 9

The big story

EU elections Far right gains in France and Germany.....10

15

SPOTLIGHT

In-depth reporting and analysis

Special report: Bloodlines

The child foot soldiers of Europe's cocaine trade..... 15

India

Why angry voters sent a message to you, Modi..... 19

Brazil

Grief and defiance two years
after journalist's death..... 24

Football

Could Euro 2024 be temporary tonic for Europe?.....26

Japan

Female fishers fill the gap in a struggling industry..... 28

Science

Scientists chew over a cosmic
doughnut theory 30

34

FEATURES

Long reads, interviews & essays

Steroids have got big, but how dangerous are they?

By Stephen Buranyi 34

Conscientious objectors

explain their choices

By Michael Segalov 40

45

OPINION

Timothy Garton Ash

After these elections, Europe
is again in danger..... 45

Emylia Hall

The midlife lessons of skateboarding47

George Monbiot

Let's give people a real democratic voice..... 48

“
Entirely different concepts have been confused.
Elections are not democracy
and democracy
is not elections

51

CULTURE

TV, film, music, theatre, art, architecture & more

Screen

Filming the farmers who struck gold by rewilding..... 51

Stage

Bear with us: the immersive
Paddington exhibition 54

Music

Why festivalgoers want a reprise from nostalgia acts ...55

Books

Blondie's Chris Stein on band
highs and rock heydays..... 58

60

LIFESTYLE

Ask Annalisa

Opening up about grief 60

Kitchen aide

Quick sauces for noodles 61

Recipe

Passion fruit and ginger tart... 61

Join the community
Twitter: @guardianweekly
facebook.com/guardianweekly
Instagram: @guardian_weekly

SPOT ILLUSTRATIONS:
MATT BLEASE

On the cover Unaccompanied child migrants across Europe are being forced to work as soldiers for increasingly powerful drug cartels to meet the continent's soaring appetite for cocaine, a Guardian investigation has found. EU police have warned of industrial-scale exploitation of African children by networks operating in cities including Paris and Brussels.
Illustration: Carl Godfrey