

A week in the life of the world
12 JULY 2024

4

GLOBAL REPORT

Headlines from the last seven days

United Kingdom 8
Science & Environment 9
The big story
United Kingdom Labour's
historic landslide win 10

17

SPOTLIGHT

In-depth reporting and analysis

France

Left coalition holds Le Pen's far-right at bay, for now 17
United States

Unease among Democrats over
Biden has not abated 20

Iran

Reformist Masoud Pezeshkian
wins presidential election ... 24

Environment

Fears for climate over Latin
America's oil boom 26

Health

Dad dancing is a sign of vitality,
not a laughing matter 30

Venezuela

Political newcomer could end
25 years of Chavismo 32

34

FEATURES

Long reads, interviews & essays

How laughing gas went from fun to serious then back again

Mark Miodownik 34

When computer game addiction needs intervention

Tim Lewis 40

45

OPINION

Rebecca Solnit

Media hounding of Biden repeats 2016's mistakes 45

Alexander Christie-Miller

The Turkish president declares war on street dogs 47

▼ Justine Greening

Without a purpose, there is no future for the Tory party 48

“Unless the Conservative party can discover its purpose, it will become even more of an irrelevance”

51

CULTURE

TV, film, music, theatre, art, architecture & more

Screen

The reality of AI creeping into television 51

Visual arts

A Gauguin show fails to fully square up to colonialism 54

Stage

Argentinian dance group is a force to be reckoned with 55

Books

Confessions of the PR who made dictators look good 57

60

LIFESTYLE

Ask Annalisa

Sharing chores amicably 60

Kitchen aide

Strawberry delights 61

Recipe

Roast pineapple 61

Join the community

Twitter: @guardianweekly
facebook.com/guardianweekly
Instagram: @guardian_weekly

SPOT ILLUSTRATIONS:
MATT BLEASE

On the cover

Last Thursday's exit polls suggested a Labour landslide but it was not until the early hours of Friday morning that the ever cautious Keir Starmer acknowledged he would move into
No 10 and as dawn broke dared to say that the "sunlight of hope" was shining in Britain again
after 14 years of Conservative rule.

Illustration: Nathalie Lees