

A week in the life of the world
8 NOVEMBER 2024

4

GLOBAL REPORT

Headlines from the last seven days

United Kingdom 8

Science & Environment 9

The big story

Spain An extreme weather
apocalypse, now 10

15

SPOTLIGHT

In-depth reporting and analysis

United States

Here's how whoever won the election pulled it off 15

Israel/Palestine

Gaza fears for a future
without Unrwa aid 18

United Kingdom

Labour's new budget: a thing of wonder, or notoriety? 22

Bhutan

How the Himalayan kingdom of happiness lost its mojo 26

Science

The science behind hugs and their positive effects 30

Canada

Is Justin Trudeau
on the ropes? 32

34

FEATURES

Long reads, interviews & essays

When people with psychosis meet the voices in their heads

By Jenny Kleeman 34

Alan Bennett at 90: writing a war film and a sex-fuelled novella

By Mark Lawson 40

45

OPINION

▼ Zoe Williams

Billionaire donors are a whole new threat to politics 45

Mike Watson

Life under Finland's rightwing government is no dream 47

Hugh Muir

An 'empire'-free British honours system fit for all 48

If a rich man buys your clothes, how is this different from his buying you a social media platform?

51

CULTURE

TV, film, music, theatre, art, architecture & more

🎬 Film

Lucy Lawless on her film about a real-life warrior princess 51

Visual arts

The public murals of Moomin creator Tove Jansson 54

Reviews

Back to Peru for the next outing from Paddington 56

Books

Ali Smith's chilling new novel reads the signs of crisis 58

60

LIFESTYLE

Tim Dowling

Dog days at the beach 60

Ask Ottolenghi

Is a potato just a potato? 61

Recipe

Kale, apple and peanuts 61

Join the community

Twitter: @guardianweekly
facebook.com/guardianweekly
Instagram: @guardian_weekly

On the cover As Jonathan Watts writes on the eve of the UN Cop29 climate summit, "the unnatural disaster in Spain - Europe's deadliest flash floods in at least half a century - is evidence of two undeniable truths: the human-caused climate crisis is starting to pick up ferocity, and we need to quickly kill the fossil fuel industry before it kills us."

Photograph: David Ramos/Getty